Game guard management

Course info and getting started

Our game guard management course is based on extensive practical experience. It provides a detailed, theoretical insight into the requirements of setting up and running a successful Game Guard Unit on Reserves and Conservancies to counter poaching activities.

In this course, we explore a brief history of game guarding in Southern Africa, the selection and training of Game Guards, their deployment and ongoing management. If you are a reserve owner, conservancy, wildlife or game farm manager, game ranger, game guide, game guard, trails guide or field guide or merely have an interest in this field, this course is a logical and pragmatic guide for you. The course was written in conjunction with the renowned conservationist Ken Coetzee.
