Intensive wildlife production

Course info and getting started

The growing need for more detailed knowledge of intensive wildlife production on small and large reserves provided the stimulus for producing this course. It is based upon extensive practical experience and provides a detailed, theoretical insight into the requirements of setting up and running a successful intensive wildlife production facility on game reserves and conservancies.

Each species is examined from its ecology, habitat and activity, behaviour, facilities, hand-rearing calves, feeding in captivity, diseases and disease conditions, capture, transportation, domestication, economics, legislation and management.

If you are a reserve owner, conservancy, wildlife or game farm manager; game ranger, game guide, game guard, trails guide or field guide or merely have an interest in this field; this course is a logical and practical guide for you.

The course was written in conjunction with renowned conservationists and environmental scientists, Professors J. du P. Bothma and N. van Rooyen.

Course type

The WildlifeCampus courses are online courses. You can download the course content in PDF format, so you do not need to be online to study (you will need to be online to take the tests, though).

There is one test for each component of a course. Tests are multiple choice and not written tests. Students may attempt these tests as many times as required until they have achieved the passing mark. Once a test is passed, it cannot be taken again.

Duration

Average 3-6 months. There are no deadlines; you may complete courses at your own pace.

Certification

Upon completion of the course, you'll receive an industry-recognised digital certificate demonstrating your commitment to upskilling yourself.
